A Quaint Proposal.

The lilac bush beneath the south window of Willow Brook Farm's wainscotted parlor nodded gracefully as a tiny zephyr swept gayly by, wafting far and near its incense of new-mown hay. In its wake fluttered a purple and golden butterfly, to poise a moment upon the window's ledge, then to soar boldly forward until it lit upon a curious old vase beside an organ, whose yellow keys gleamed softly in the half darkened room The butterfly and the vase mirrored themselves in the polished oak door, and if the range had been right they could have repeated the picture in the shining surface of each article of furniture.

A young girl was the sole occupant of the room, with the exception, of course, of the butterfly, who had winged his way to a small oval mirror and was busily making his toilet, as his companion, humming a merry tune, dusted carefully a squatt teapot, whose fat little spout and comic tout ensemble at once inspired a longia for gtea brewed in such novel quarters. At that moment a voice, calling "Marthy! Marthy !" echoed through the house, followed by : "Run—quick, old Tim's in the corn field, and my hands are all over dough !"

Hastily replacing the ancient heirloom on a spindle legged table, the young girl darted from the room, while the butterfly, started at is toilet, spread its brilliant wings and floated swiftly out into the sunshine again. Snatching a snowy sun bonnet from its peg in the hall, Martha flew down the garden path across to an adjacent meadow. In her hurry she failed to notice a gentleman slowly advancing in her direction, until two masculine hands stayed her progress.

With an exclamation of surprise, Martha raised her pretty blue eyes and met a pair of decidedly good-looking brown ones, gazing with evident appreciation at the dimpled, blushing face, from off which the sun-bonnet had slipped, disclosing a crop of reddish golden rings lying close to the finely shaped little head.

"I beg your pardon," murmured Martha, the blushes and dimples waxing deeper, "but I didn't see you, I was in such a hurry,"

"Don't mention it. Wouldn't have missed the—the pleasure for anything. I—I like to be run into," averred the gentleman with considerable emphasis.

Such a rippling laugh as bubbled over the lips of Martha at this speech, which she hastily apologized for with :

"I didn't mean to, really ; but what you said sounded so odd."

"You couldn't do it again, could you ? I assure you I never appreciated being a—odd until to-day. I—"

"Oh, the cow !" exclaimed Martha, suddenly recollecting her errand. "I forgot all about him," and away she sped, the gentleman hurrying after, repeating :

"Cow ! Him ! Let me help you. I —I really am very clever with cows. In fact I would like to make them a study."

However, when the field was reached no cow was to be seen, and remarking that doubtless some of the hands had ousted old Tim, Martha turned her steps toward the house, thinking the gentleman would proceed on his way. To her astonishment, however, he kept along by her side, observing :

"Are you acquainted at Willow Brook farm ?"

"Why, yes ; it's my home. I was born there," answered Martha, surprisedly.

"Happy farm ! I mean—a—it must be a lovely place. You see, the fact is —that is, I have a note for Mrs. Duncan, of Willow Brook Farm."

"My mother !" ejaculated Martha, opening wide her blue eyes. Whereupon the gentleman scanned with newly awakened interest a square envelope he had extricated from his breast pocket, as he added :

"I am an old—I should say my mother is an old friend of Mrs. Duncan's," making a rough calculation of the length of time it might take, all things favorable, to place him on equally as good a footing with the daughter, while Martha's thoughts ran very much in this wise.

"Would be nice looking if he wasn't so sallow. Wonder if mother will ask him to make us a visit. I never heard her speak of an old friend that had a son."

By this time they were proceeding up the path that led to the farm's pretty rose garlanded porch, and having ushered the gentleman into the parlor we have already been introduced to, with a demure little courtesy and the words "I will send mother," Martha left him.

In a few moments a comely, rosy-cheeked woman came hurrying into the parlor with :

"Good afternoon, sir, Martha tells me you have a letter for me from an old friend."

"Yes, from my mother," and the gentleman held toward her the letter. Having read it through, interrupted with exclamations such as "Bless me !"

Who'd have thought it !" Mrs. Duncan, her pleasant face deepening into a smile ejaculated :

"So you are little Paul Dorsey. My! how time flies. When I last saw you, you were only a little shaver. It must be nigh onto fifteen years ago. And to think of Lucindy's remembering me all these years and sending her son to see me. Not that I have forgotten her—not a bit. Only with one thing and another one hasn't time to think much of old days. You see your ma and I went to the same academy, and we thought a sight of each other ; only somehow after both of us married we sort of drifted apart. Your ma she married a wealthy city man, while I got wedded to a well-to-do farmer, and so gradually we each went our own way. Not to forget each other though as you see, and now, my dear, excuse the liberty, but it comes natural like, being your Lucindy's son, I'll send one of the men down to the village after your trunk, and you'll just stop along with us and be as welcome as my own son, if I had one, and Marthy and I will do our best to make you comfortable," and motherly Mrs. Duncan laid her hand with an approving pat upon Paul Dorsey's slightly stooping shoulders, while he, coloring somewhat, endeavored to thank her for her warm hospitality, but was cut short with :

"Bless you, it's no put out, we have lots of room, and it will be a real pleasure to me to see Lucindy's son making himself to home in my house."

And thus it was that Paul Dorsey became a guest at Willow Brook Farm.

That evening after her visitor had retired Mrs. Duncan observing to her daughter :

"Poor young man, he hasn't a bit of appetite. I don't wonder Lucindy is fretted about him. She writes that he is always that taken up with books, that she can hardly ever coax him to go about a bit with young folks and enjoy himself. I've been thinking Marthy, if you was just to kind of make believe you need his help now and again about the garden and such, it would do him a sight of good, and he'd never suspect it was for the sake of his health," and Mrs. Duncan laughed, a low, pleased laugh, at the thought of the deception, while Martha exclaimed :

"Why, mother ! you are getting to be a regular conspirator. But I am afraid it won't work, he's so—so odd."

Paul Dorsey had been told to make himself perfectly at home ; so the morning after his arrival he withdrew from the breakfast table to his own room, and forthwith commenced to unpack his books preparatory to a good day's study. Everything was at last arranged to his satisfaction, but somehow his thoughts were strangely wandering this day, although not a sound disturbed the cool quietness of his surroundings. A pair of blue eyes seemed to glance mockingly from the musty page he fain would master, he caught himself repeating aloud the old fashioned name of "Marthy," which took unto itself the sweetest of sounds ; by reason of its connection with so pretty an owner. Suddenly, with a thud, the book fell from his hand, as, exclaiming: "By Jove ! that's her voice,' Paul Dorsey, with one stride, was at the window making sad havoc of the dainty dimity curtains with clumsy hands.

Martha, accompanied by a tall, stalwart fellow, was passing down the garden path, her infectious laughter floating merrily upon the balmy air as she chatted away to the young man at her side, who appeared to be enjoying the subject under discussion as much as herself. As they disappeared from view Paul, with rather a blank look, resumed his seat and sought to apply himself to his interrupted task, but not with the old ardor did he work, and for the first time that he could remember, he listened anxiously for the bell to summon him to luncheon.

The days slipped into weeks, and still Paul Dorsey remained a guest at Willow Brook Farm, and it became no unusual sight to see him obediently following Martha's directions concerning the uprooting of certain weeds, or the fastening of some vine more securely about its support. An honest, bronze tinge had replaced Paul's once sallow complexion, and the books—well, they had become secondary, a more potent charm having outrivaled them. Mrs. Duncan congratulates herself upon her happy forethought that was working such a change in her friend's son, and Martha admitted with a slight blush, that Mr. Dorsey was getting to be almost as handsome as her cousin Joe—her beau ideal of manly beauty heretofore.

The sun burned scorching hot upon the broad gravel path just outside of the farm's pretty parlor, but within that quaint room a restful coolness held sway. Lounging idly in the depths of a willow chair, was Paul, while Martha, seated at the old organ, drew from its aged keys a low, plaintive melody. As the last note died softly away, whirling round upon her seat, Martha exclaimed :

"Do you know, Mr. Dorsey, you have been wasting the whole morning? I don't believe you have looked at a book for two days"—this last, it must be owned, with a slight air of triumph as she continued, penitently : "I am afraid I have been to blame, but to-morrow I will leave you free to spend the whole day with your books, for Consin Joe has promised to drive me over to Dapleston to do some shopping."

"Hang cousin Joe."

"Mr. Dorsey !" from Martha's astonished lips.

"I beg pardon, I really—I hope you will have a delightful time, Miss Duncan. I assure you I shall a—enjoy it immensely being left to my books and —confound it ! Excuse me I—"

"How queer it is," soliloquized Martha, as Paul's departing footsteps echoed through the hall. "I don't see why he should dislike Joe so ; Joe is always such a favorite with every one. I hope I haven't offended him. I am sure I didn't mean to." And with rather a puzzled look upon the fair young face, Martha closed the organ.

That evening as Martha stood down by the meadow gate caressing old Doxey, the mare, her quick ears caught the sound of a familiar tread advancing toward her, and a moment after a voice exclaimed :

"I am an idiot, Miss Martha, but I —I hope you will forgive me. I couldn't bear the idea of his monopolizing you all day. I know you could never think of an old bookworm like myself—still I—I have been very happy, and I forget sometimes that—that there is such a difference between us."

Martha's cheeks had been growing rosier and rosier, while a strange, wild joy surged through her veins, as she answered, her tones trembling slightly.

"Since I can remember Cousin Joe and I have been playmates, and since father died he has been so good and kind to mother, helping her about the farm and in every way, that he has become like a son to her, and as dear as a brother to me. Dear Joe ! I don't know what we should have done without him." She paused, tears gathering in her pretty eyes. Paul drew nearer, then hestitated, as Martha continued :

"Joe is engaged to my dearest friend and they are to be married in just six weeks."

"I am awfully glad—I mean I wish them joy, and all that sort of thing," and Paul Dorsey advanced still nearer the little figure into whose eyes a sweet shyness had stolen.

"Martha, do you think there is a ghost of a chance for me ? As it's my first attempt at anything of the kind, perhaps you will sum it up leniently, and make my sentence as easy as you can," then gathering courage from Martha's half averted face, and the extreme pinkness of the one visible ear, he laid his hand caressingly upon hers, adding :

"Martha, do you think you can forgive me for—for loving you ?"

"Why should I forgive you for what I have done myself ?" came the low answer, followed naively by, "But I did not know it until to-day," when I thought I had offended you."

"And—and you don't mind my being odd—or anything ?" stammered Paul, in his excessive joy.

"You are not a bit odd," was the indignant reply ; "I wouldn't have you any different," and Martha touched shyly the coat-sleeve in close proximity to her waist, whereupon she immediately disappeared from view, and from some where in the region of Paul's waistsoat pocket a muffled little voice might have been heard ejaculating :

"Oh, Paul ! suppose somebody is looking ?"

"I hope they are," was the audacious reply, succeeded by a second disappearance on Martha's part.

A week or so later a stylishly-dressed, middle aged lady was sitting tete-a-tete with Mrs. Duncan, who was observing :

"Dear me, Lucindy, you 've no call to thank me. I had nothing to do with it. Not but what I am real pleased that your son and my daughter should come together ; but I had no more thought of it than yourself."

A slight smile stirred the lips of Mrs. Dorsey as she remarked :

"You are just the same as ever, Mary. Well, if Martha only turns out half as good a woman as yourself, I am satisfied that Paul has won a treasure."

"And he'll never forget, mother, that he owes that treasure to you, for if you had not sent him to seek out your old friend he'd have remained a bachelor or to the end of his days," interrupted a masculine voice, while a girlish treble exclaimed, "Oh, Paul !" the rest of the sentence being forever lost by Paul daringly sealing his betrothed's lips with his own.

A Very Sharp Witness.

Sometimes a lawyer meets his match on the witness stand. Not long since there was a breach of promise case in an Ohio town. The unusual bully-ragging lawyer was there, but an unusual witness, in the person of a country schoolmarm, met him.

'Ah, miss,' said the lawyer, when she had taken the oath, 'will you state your name ?'

'Elizabeth Martin,' she responded, quietly.

'Your occupation ?'

'Teaching school.'

'How old are you ?' he next inquired, with a sidelong smile at the crowd.

'Old enough to know that it is none of your business,' she answered as gently as the ring dove cooes.

'Objection sustained,' remarked the court.

The lawyer's face fell, but he braced up and went on, without a smile.

'Do you know the nature of an oath,' he asked, spitefully.

'Oh, yes. I heard you damn the court yesterday on the street for ruling against you, and I knew you were not saying your prayers.'

The court looked at the lawyer, the lawyer looked at the ceiling and the witness looked at ease.

'Confine your answer to the case, if you know the plaintiff ?'

'Yes, sir, I know her.'

'What do you know of her ?'

'More good than I do of a lawyer, sir.'

'That's not what I want to know.'

'I presume not, sir,' continued the witness softly.

'I want to know,' shouted the exasperated questioner, bringing his fist down on the table, 'if you know anything about the case before the court.'

'More than you do, possibly.'

'Well, tell it to the court and I have done with it.'

'Thanks. I know, your Honor, that Joseph Hill the defendant, asked Mary Jackson the plaintiff, if she would be his wife. It was done in my presence.'

'Indeed ! Isn't that rather an unusual way of popping the question ?'

'I don't know, sir. I have no experience. I happened to be present, because I came into the room unexpectedly and found the plaintiff sitting in the defendant's lap, and he, to show me that he had a right to save the furniture in that way, asked her again to be his wife, as he had done a week earlier.'

'By the way, Miss Martin, how much does the plaintiff weigh ?'

'One hundred and forty pounds, sir.'

'How do you know so exactly ?'

By the weight, of course,' she smiled and the lawyer went off another track.

'Did you know the defendant was telling the truth ?'

'Oh, yes; you know he is not a lawyer.'

'The witness will confine herself to the facts,' interrupted the court.

'Very well, your Honor. I shall pay no more attention to the statements of the attorney.

'That will do, said the provoked lawyer. The witness may stand down.'

'May it please the court,' she replied, 'the witness would like to sit down.'

'The sheriff will please provide the witness with a chair,' said the court. 'She seems to have sat down on everything else in the court room, and the court sees no reason why a chair should be exempt.'

The witness smiled placidly and took the chair to await another call to the stand.

'There were countless millions of mosquitoes down on the marsh to-day,' said Johnny. 'Don't exaggerate,' said his mother. 'I don't zaggerate, ma ; there were countless millions ; for Jimmy Brown and me counted 'em.'

A TOWN LYING IN RUINS.

A Tornado's Terrible Destruction in Ohio.

Washington Court House Leveled to the Earth—Five Persons Killed, Three Hundred Injured—Loss Over $1,000,000.

WASHINGTON, C. H., O., Sept. 9.—A tornado last evening at eight o'clock almost completely demolished this place. Not a single store facing Central Square out of forty is left intact, and a majority of them are leveled.

The storm came from the northwest, and broke up the town very suddenly, carrying everything before it. The tornado whirled up Court street, the main business thoroughfare, and ruined almost every business block in it, at least forty or fifty in all. Hardly a private residence in the town escaped, fully 400 buildings going down. The Baptist, Presbyterian and Catholic churches all suffered the common fate.

The Ohio Southern, Pan Handle, Narrow Gauge and Midland Railroad depots were blown into "Smithereens," and every building in the vicinity was carried away, making ingress or egress almost impossible. Every wire within a circuit of two miles is down.

The reports of the catastrophe were sent by a telegraph operator who tapped a wire two miles west of the town, and, sitting in a heavy rain storm, worked his instrument. The panic-stricken people were taken completely unawares, and fled from the tumbling buildings in every direction through the murky darkness.

A mad frenzy seemed to seize the people, and they hurried hither and thither in their wild distraction, little knowing whither they were fleeing. After the whirlwind, which lasted about ten minutes, a heavy rain set in, which continued unabated throughout the night. Sheriff Rankin ordered out the militia, which took charge and helped get order out of chaos.

All the gas went out when the storm came up. The gas works were destroyed. Bon fires had to be burnt in streets to give light for the searchers. One of the injured is the manages of the Telephone Exchange. He was hurled across the street and had an arm, leg and collar bone broken. Some houses were lifted up and carried bodily several hundred feet.

As soon as a few of the cooler heads recovered their senses, searching parties were organized and the sad work of looking for the dead began. The glimmer of lanterns, procured from farm-houses in the vicinity and from the few houses left standing, was the only light they had to work by. Two or three bodies were stumbled upon in the middle of the street, where they were stricken down by flying bricks or timbers. The cellars of houses and every sort of refuge were filled with shivering people, huddling together in the vain attempt to keep warm. One babe in arms died from exposure.

LATER PARTICULARS.

CINCINNATI, Sept. 9.—A special dispatch from Washington Court House says : Mrs. Mollie Jones, Edith Floyd, Ella Forsha, Jennie Forsha and Flora Carr were killed, and Hurbert Taggart, James Jackson and John C. VanPelt are supposed to be fatally injured. Fully 300 persons were hurt. The loss will exceed $1,000,000. The council has appointed a relief committee. The militia are guarding the stores whose contents are all exposed. Washington C. H. is a town of about 4,000 inhabitants.

THE TRACK OF THE TORNADO.

CINCINNATI, O., Sept. 9.—Advices from Circleville, Ohio, state that last night a tornado passed through the country south of that place, unroofing houses and blowing down fences and trees. A very heavy rain fall accompanied the storm.

A Strong Cigar.

'Don't care if I do, stranger. Thanks. Strong ? Yes, tolerable. Strongest cigar I ever smoked ? [Puff, puff.] No, tain't. [Puff, puff.] Not by a long shot. What was the strongest cigar I ever smoked ? Well, I'll tell you. It was so strong that it knocked some of my teeth out. You don't believe it? Wait till you hear the particulars. It was way back in '65. I was with the army of the Potomac, and were closing up on Lee in Richmond. I was on picket duty one night, when I got hankerin' for a cigar. It was agin orders to smoke on the picket line, but I couldn't stand it, and I dived down into the trench and lit my weed. Then I returned to my beat, puffing away happy as could be. It was a very dark night, an' everything quiet, an' I was just flatterin' myself that there was no danger in a smoke when whish ! bang ! and that cigar of mine went to pieces an' I felt a prickly pain in my mouth. I felt, an a couple o' teeth were gone. Pretty strong cigar that, eh ? Loaded ? No; but the rifle of that 'ere Johnny reb sharpshooter was, and right here on my cheek is where the ball cum out. If the ash hadn't fell off that cigar I would have two more teeth in my head to-day.'—Chicago Herald.

A VERY HAPPY FAMILY.

HOW A POLANDER GETS ALONG WITH HIS COW, BULL CALF, PONY, CHICKENS, WIFE AND CHILD.

An Alderny cow, a heifer, a bull calf, four dogs, eleven cats, a pony, a variety of poultry, Stanislaus Mirzowski, Mrs. Mirzowski, Miss Mirzowski and Mrs. Mirzowski's mother are residents of a shanty in the most picturesque part of the West End, known as Polacktown.

Mr. Mirzowski came to this country fifteen years ago, bringing with him all the attributes and tastes of his fatherland. He first settled in New York, and for a while led a struggling existence, sharing his humble abode with a porcine favorite and diligently tilling the patch of land he had purchased with the little money he acquired by persevering economy. By degrees fortune smiled on him, and so did a maiden of his adopted country. Marriage ensued, and the banishment of the porcine favorite from the Mirzowski fireside was the first act of the blushing bride. The unhappy pig speedily developed into bacon and other succulent substances, the last trace of him being lost in several pounds of country sausage.

A year or two after the Mirzowski menage, now increased by the arrival of a baby girl, was removed to Pittsburg and housed in Polacktown, where Stanislaus set up in business as a remover and hauler of furniture. But the absence of four-footed denizens in his household created a void in the feelings of Stanislaus, and so one day he went out and returned with a heifer calf of the Alderny breed, which he installed in the connubial bed-chamber. Mrs. Mirzowski, being a woman of toleration did not object. So, by degrees, a dog or two, a cat or two, or a fowl or so were added to the establishment, and still Mrs. Mirzowski did not complain. The infant daughter played with the animals, and a monthly account was opened with a neighboring manufacturer of flea poison. The heifer grew up, and was sent into the country for a change of air, returned, and shortly after produced a calf, and Mrs. Mirzowski began to believe she was living in a circus. But at last her patience gave way. One evening her husband returned home later than usual, a violent clattering followed his footsteps up the stairs. He entered the room leading a tiny brown foal by the halter, and fastened it to the bed post. The long enduring wife was short but decisive in her remonstrance.

'Stanislaus,' she cried, 'this ain't no menagerie, no zoological garden, no Noah's ark. Either them animals go or I do.'

Stanislaus did not argue the matter. He had enough in a long stocking hidden between the cow's fadder to find other quarters for his household pets, and so he rented the shanty he and his family occupy at present. A visit paid to him found him milking his cows, a second calf having been added to his stock.

A variety of dogs greeted the visitor on his approach, a barrier of teeth opposing further progress until the little girl came to bid him enter. A table with tea cups and the remnants of supper was on one side of the entrance. An open partition on the other side disclosed a cooking stove and accompanying paraphernalia of pots and pans. Cats reposed in all directions, mixed up with dogs. The heifer was lying down, with its head under the table ; the calf was tied up in a corner, while its dam was being milked. In the opposite corner the pony was quietly munching his hay, while a chicken or two roosted on his back. The little girl looked fresh and happy, and was evidently on perfectly intimate terms with the animals. Marzowski appeared the picture of contentment.

'It looks like a farm in the city, don't it ?' he asked in broken English.

'Do you sleep here ?'

'Well, no. We sleep in that place yonder. You see, the missus don't like it, but we are here all day long. Now, if you could pull down them houses, and grow some grass and a few trees around here, why you couldn't wish for more.'

'But do you make any money out of your animals ?'

'Of course. The cows give milk, and the chickens eggs, while the pony does his share with the light cart. I work at hauling, while my wife and girl look after things here. All things considered, we make a good living and manage to be happy.

General Washington went fishing at least once. And on that occasion he caught a trout at least four inches long. While down at the corner grocery in the evening, after returning from his angling tour, he was asked how much the trout weighed, when he uttered those memorable words, viz. : "I cannot tell a lie. It weighed seventeen and a half pounds."

A woman who thinks for herself is weak, but a woman who thinks for another is decidedly strong.

HARRISBURG is decked this week with the national colors in honor of her centennial.

CANADA is infested with the small-pox. Won't that be rough on the crowd of absconding cashiers, who took refuge there? It's likely to turn the rascals out.

REPUBLICAN Chairman Cooper will find the job of collecting campaign funds from government clerks somewhat slower than before. The clerks argue that it is impossible to serve two masters at the same time.

THE headquarters of the Democratic State Committee have been established for the campaign at the S. E. Corner, Broad and Chestnut Streets, Philadelphia, where the active and wide-awake chairman, W. U. Hensel, and his secretary, J. B. Lichty attend to the cumbersome duties of the campaign work.

THE latest foreign news report that Spain and Germany are about cooling down and are settling their difficulties in a peaceful way. But both are rather hot-headed and the slightest disagreement may get them to quarreling again. The great trouble with the European potentates is that each and every one has a craving to be "on top of the pile."

THE Grant Memorial fund in New York which has been started with the intention of making it a round million dollars, as yet lacks about nine hundred and twenty-six thousand dollars to make the million full. The good people of this country fail to see the use of sticking an enormous sum of money into a great monumental pile, when something more modest would answer just as well.

To Go or Not to Go.

The Ohio clerks in Washington, of the Republican faith, are said to be considering whether it is worth while to go home to vote this fall or not. Heretofore they never were given an opportunity for considering the matter. They were required to go home and vote by the political leaders, who were supposed to be all powerful with the appointing power. That settled the matter. The clerks invariably were on hand at the polls on election day and voted the party ticket.

At the present juncture matters are in an entirely different shape. There is nobody who can hurt them if they don't go. There is a healthy fear in the minds of some of them that they might have occasion to regret it if they did go. Many of them have exhausted their thirty days' leave of absence and, as the present administration does not grant more than the thirty days without deducting from the salaries for the time lost, they have an excellent excuse for not going.

While there is no evidence that going home to vote would cost any efficient clerk his place, as there is nobody standing ready to decapitate him if he does not go, it may be taken for granted that the migration to Ohio at election time will be much less this year than usual.—Phila. Times.

The New York Governorship.

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—Advices from all over the State are to the effect that Hill will take the Democratic nomination for Governor without much opposition, also that Carr is leading all the other republican candidates, closely pressed by Morton. If Carr continues to gain as fast as he has the past week he will be nominated, though the friends of Morton and Davis are still very sanguine.

The Business Strain is Passing Away.

From the Pittsburg Dispatch.

The business revival keeps on reviving in a way to rejoice the hearts of all. The period of strain has been a trying one, but it is passing away, and trade skies are roseate.

Asking Clerks for Money is Mean Business.

From the Kennet Advance, Blaine-in-1888 Organ

Chairman Cooper has bearded the lion in his den, so to speak, and has sent circulars to all the Pennsylvania employes in government offices, asking for contributions to the campaign fund. Some of the clerks are kicking as though they feel dreadfully insulted but it is likely that the majority of them will pay up without any fuss, although they may be put in the unpleasant dilemna of trying to serve two masters. It is a mean business and ought to be abolished.

Secretary Manning has leased a house at the corner of Eighteenth and P streets, Washington, and will occupy it as soon as Mrs. Manning returns to Washington. The house, a fine residence, is in Dupont Circle, opposite the Blaine mansion and Stewart castle. Secretary Whitney is fitting up the Means mansion on the Tenallytown road, recently purchased by him, and will spend the autumn there. Attorney General Garland has purchased a residence at the corner of Rhode Island avenue and Fourteenth street. All the members of the Cabinet, except Mr. Lamar, may now be said to be provided with homes in the District of Columbia.

Miscellaneous News.

Secretary Bayard has been informed by cable that cholera is prevalent at Shanghai, China.

DEAD AT THE AGE OF 111 YEARS.

HUDSON, N. Y., Sept. 10.—Christian Cooper, of the town of Livingston, Columbia county, died yesterday, aged one hundred and eleven years, ten months and fifteen days. Mr. Cooper was active and retained his mental faculties until a few days before his death.

Castor's Slayer Gets Three Years.

NORRISTOWN, Sept. 12.—Judge Boyer this afternoon sentenced Alexander Steele, the Insane Asylum attendant who was convicted at the June court of manslaughter for the killing of Theodore F. Castor, a patient at the institution, to three years at hard labor in the County Prison. His counsel asked for mercy. Steele looked pale.

THE BOAT CAPSIZED AND THE MINISTER DROWNED.

MUNCY, Sept. 10.—A drowning accident occurred yesterday in the river near McEwensville by which the Rev. Mr. Millet, of that place, lost his life. He and his brother were in a boat fishing, when it capsized, precipitating both of them into the water. In his efforts to save him his brother also came near being drowned. The body was recovered.

He Struck a Nitro-Glycerine Can.

BEDFORD, Sept. 13.—This afternoon, about two miles south of this city, some boys discovered a disused nitro-glycerine can. One of the boys, George Canfield, aged 17 years, threw a stone at it. He was a good marksman and the stone exploded what little glycerine remained in the can. The force of the explosion caused the stone to rebound, one piece of it striking Canfield in the abdomen and another in the cheek. He lived but an hour.

Death of B. L. Wallace.

Bishop L. Wallace, of Clearfield, assistant cashier of the Clearfield County Bank, died at the residence of his father, Hon. W. A. Wallace, on Monday morning, from injuries received in a fall on Friday morning last. Mr. Wallace was a young man of bright promise, and his distinguished father has the sympathy of his numerous friends in this region in his severe affliction. The deceased was a nephew of Mr. Thomas L. Wallace and S. J. M. McCarrell, Esq., of Harrisburg.

Overdose of Morphia.

LANCASTER, Sept. 13.—Dr. Frank M. Musser, a prominent young physician of this city, died at 2.30 yesterday afternoon from the effects of an overdose of morphine. He had long suffered from severe headaches and on Thursday afternoon took an injection of morphia to relieve the pain. The dose was too large, and he sank into unconsciousness, from which he did not recover. He was 35 years old and leaves a wife and three children.

GOLD ALLEGED TO BE FOUND AT WILLIAMSPORT.

A late dispatch from Williamsport to the Philadelphia Press says: "Peter Weisel a reputable citizen of this place, claims to have discovered gold in Lycoming County while out hunting recently. He refuses to divulge the location of his find, but a stock company is being formed by him to develop it. Mr. Weisel claims to have sent some of the quartz to New York last week for assay, and states that he today received information that his specimens yielded at the rate of $220 per ton. More quartz have been sent to New York, and a number of capitalists are anxious to open up the alleged vein."

Discovery of Coal.

MT. CARMEL, Sept. 15.—The Company of Reed, Stecker & Reed this week commenced the work of sinking a slope on the Northumberland County Coal Company's tract, a few miles north of this borough. A vein of excellent coal seven feet thick has been discovered, and a prosperous mine will be opened in the near future.

THE RAVAGES OF CHOLERA.

LONDON, Sept. 12.—The total number of cases of cholera reported in Madrid since September 1st was 10,666 and for the whole of Spain for the same period 23,644. The total number of deaths from the disease throughout Spain since September 1st was 6,379. The disease has almost disappeared from the provinces of Valencia, Murcia, Saragossa and Granada. A few cases of cholera and deaths from the disease are daily reported from various towns in the south of France. The Archbishop of Aix, Department of Bouches-du-Rhone, seventeen miles north of Marseilles, has died from cholera. He contracted the disease while visiting a cholera hospital.

MOLLIE MAGUIRE MURDERS.

NINE PERSONS KILLED BY THE ORDER IN THE LUZERNE COAL REGION.

SHAMOKIN, Pa., Sept. 11.—Mollie Maguireism is again rampant in the upper and lower Luzerne districts. Nine murders have been committed recently in the northern coal fields, and mines are frequently fired. Murderers and firebugs go free, and the Coal and Iron Police seem powerless. The "Moonlight" rifle companions are drilling unmolested, and the Association of Miners and Laborers is daily growing by hundreds. It is well known here that the Mollie Maguire Brotherhood has been quietly organizing since last April, and a general outbreak is confidently looked for before November. Detectives are watching for the approach of Socialist Gorsuch, of Chicago, who, it is thought, will try to organize a revolt among the miners. The familiar "coffin notices" have been received by members of the Law and Order society.

Escape of a Robber.

An Old Offender Scales the Wall of the Huntingdon Jail.

HUNTINGDON, Pa., Sept. 11.—Paddy Connelly, an old offender, has escaped from the county jail in this city by scaling the wall with the aid of an old-fashioned bakeoven scraper, which he stole from the bakery. Connelly was arrested by railroad officers last spring on the charge of robbing freight cars, and his case would have come before the court next week. Connelly has broken out of jail several times. About three months ago he made his escape from the jail here with McClay Cherry, but was captured on one of the ridges adjoining the city, and about two years ago he dug his way out of the prison of Roanoke, Va. After he got out of jail in the evening, he made his way to the residence of a confederate, who is out on bail, and asked him to run away, but this the young man refused to do. Connelly then stole his way to the railroad in the darkness and has not since been seen or heard from.

A singular case of poisoning occurred in West Phila., a few days ago. A young man had catarrh, for which he had tried many remedies, which relieved him but did not cure him. He had noticed a patent medicine advertised for the cure of catarrh, which he concluded to try. He repaired to a well established drug store near by, and bought a box of the new preparation, that was properly put up and labelled. When he reached home he found the contents in a pulverized condition, so as to be used as snuff. He took a small amount of the powder on his finger, and snuffed it. Instantly he gave a piercing shriek, and continued shrieking. Blood issued from his nostrils, and he became delirious and almost beyond control. A physician was hurried to his bedside, but could afford little relief. He hastily examined the box, and found the contents to be henbane, one of the deadliest poisons known. The druggist was entirely blameless, as he had bought the sealed package for what it was represented to be on the label; and the house from which he purchased it had done the same. The patient survived, but his sufferings were long and terrible.

PETERSON'S MAGAZINE for October makes us marvel more than ever how so beautiful a monthly can be published for so low a price. The principal engraving on steel, "The Star of the Night," is a portrait of one of the loveliest of women, and looks as if painted from life. There are two colored patterns in embroidery; a mammoth colored fashion-plate; a story profusely illustrated; and some fifty wood-cuts of fashions, work-table patterns, etc., etc. The powerful novelet by Mrs. Ann S. Stephens, which has awakened such interest all the year, grows more absorbing as it approaches the close. "Josiah Allen's Wife" has one of her unrivaled humorous sketches; Frank Lee Benedict begins a new novelet; and there is a little sketch, "That Horrid Dress," which every lady ought to insist on her husband reading. But enough: the best thing to do is to write for a specimen of "Peterson," which will be sent gratis, and compare it with others, when you will be certain to subscribe, or get up a club, for 1886. Now is the time for this. The price of this "lady's favorite" is but two dollars a year, with great deductions to clubs. Address, Chas. J. Peterson, 306 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

—Deininger's Ready Reference Tax Receipt Book is growing in public favor. Customers from a distance are beginning to call for it. It is an admitted necessity for every tax-payer who does his business in a practical manner. It is arranged to last for ten years and sells at the low price of 40 cents. Call and see it at the JOURNAL Store. tf

Read what the people say concerning the ability of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil to cure asthma, catarrh, croup, colds, etc. Mrs. Dora Koch of Buffalo, says: "For croup it is decidedly efficacious." [Mrs. Jacob Mellisor of Marion, Ohio, says the same thing.] S. S. Graves, Akron, N. Y., writes: "Had asthma of the worst kind, took one dose of Thomas' Eclectric Oil and was relieved in a few minutes. Would walk five miles for this medicine and pay $5 a bottle for it." Druggist C. R. Hall, Grayville, Ill., says: "Cured an ulcerated throat for me in twenty-four hours." "Sat up in bed and coughed till the clothing was wet with perspiration. My wife insisted that I use Thomas' Eclectric Oil. The first teaspoonful RELIEVED me." E. H. Perkins, Creek Centre, N. Y., Thomas' Eclectric Oil is also a Tip-Top external application for rheumatism, cuts, scalds, burns, bites, bruises, etc. When visiting the druggist, ask him what he knows of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil; if he has been long in the drug trade, be sure he will speak highly of it.

Worked Wonders.

"My daughter was very bad off on account of a cold and pain in her lungs. Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil cured her in twenty-four hours. One of the boys was cured of sore throat. This medicine has worked wonders in our family." Alvah Pinckney, Lake Mohopac, N. Y.

—The school directors of our borough have posted up advertisements of the sale of the old school furniture, to take place next Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

NOTICE.—The new Process Roller Flour, manufactured by J. B. Fisher, Penn Hall, is for sale at D. S. Kauffman & Co's new store, Main street, Millheim, Pa.

—Cure for Croup—Use Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil according to directions. It is the best remedy for all sudden attacks of colds, pain and inflamation, and for injuries.

—Forrest Stephenson's residence, southeast of town, is up and under roof. At this rate Millheim and Coburn will be closely connected before many a year slips around.

—Herlacher's tar pot was boiling again this week, several more of our property holders having their roofs painted with the black stuff. The article is becoming very popular.

—We are glad to learn that our newly-married neighbors, Mr. & Mrs. E. W. Mauck, have concluded to settle in Millheim and are already negotiating for a suitable home of their own.

—D. W. Zeigler's carpenters began to prepare the floor timbers for his new bakery on Penn street last Monday and at this writing the building is up and will be ready for the roof in a few days.

—Livery stable keepers should always keep Arnica & Oil Liniment in the stable. Nothing like it for horses. 1m —The teachers' examination which took place here yesterday was well attended. At least this is the report of those who were there, the writer being unable to be present.

—Mrs. Margaret Stover, whose sickness we reported last week, is now convalescing. Her son, John and his family, from Painter, Mifflin county, were here to visit her several days.

—GUNS, GUNS, GUNS! all kinds of guns on exhibition at D. S. Kauffman & Co's new store on Main Street. From a Winchester Rifle or a Double Barrel Shell down to a Musket.

—Miss Jennie Deininger, daughter of A. O. Deininger, Esq, of Clarkstown, Lycoming Co., Pa., is here on a visit to relatives and friends. She expects to spend several weeks among us.

—A Mr. Schreckengast, residing in the mountains above Coburn was suddenly taken sick while attending the colored campmeeting last Sunday afternoon. Medical aid was at once summoned and he improved rapidly.

—The Bellefonte School Board passed resolutions favoring the admission of colored children of that borough to the public schools. There will be lots of contrast then, at least in color.

—Wm. E. Hoy, of Mifflinburg, the missionary-elect to Japan, from the Beformed church, is spending a few weeks with Rev. Miller at Rebersburg and Rev. Yearick, at Aaronsburg.

—We learn that Henry Weaver, of Aaronsburg, received the appointment of storekeeper and gauger at the Woodward distillery. We congratulate him. He is an old and deserving democrat.

—Malaria in any of its forms, chills and fever, congestive chills can be prevented or cured by the use of Simmons Liver Regulator, a purely vegetable medicine, superior to calomel and quinine.

—A. J. Harter erected a large currier shop on the western corner of his lot on Penn street. By the time he will flit into his new house, he will also be ready for business in his new shop.

—The masons commenced work on the new hardware building, corner of Main and Penn streets, on Monday. A few short months and the burnt district will present a new and improved appearance.

—During the absence of Mr. & Mrs. D. A. Musser, their daughter, Mrs. A. Walter has charge of the parental homestead in Strasburg, and the Walter residence on Penn street is deserted and closed for the present.

LOOK HERE.—I cure Piles. I have a positive remedy for piles. By its use many cases of the worst kind and of long standing have been cured. It cures as if by magic. Money refunded to dissatisfied patients. Address, H. K. SUMMERS, Aaronsburg, Pa.

—E. H. Long and wife, have returned from their visit to the old home at Fisher's Ferry. It looks like old times to see Eli behind the counters in D. S. Kauffman & Co's store. Hope he may may now enjoy perfect and lasting health.

Try Ayer's Pills, and be cured. Misery is a mild word to describe the mischief to body and mind caused by habitual constipation. The regular use of Ayer's Cathartic Pills, in mild doses, will restore the torpid viscera to healthy action.

—John Kerstetter's new house on Penn street is progressing finely. This makes three good sized buildings in course of construction at present, with more to follow later in fall. Millheim can soon boast of a large number of fine buildings.

OFF FOR HARRISBURG.—Prof. H. J. Kurzenknabe and wife, accompanied by Mrs. Jonathan Harter, boarded the east-bound train on Monday morning, to attend the great centennial at Harrisburg this week. Hope they may enjoy themselves hugely.

—Several invitation cards were sent to friends in this town for the wedding of our former townsman, C. A. Sturgis, and Miss Mary Hauck, of Lewisburg, which is to take place in that town this evening at 8 o'clock. Here is our ☞ Charley, with our best wishes.

IMPORTANT TO FARMERS.—J. H. Frank, west of Millheim, gives notice that he has for sale a superior quality of Wheat, which he calls "Farmers' friend," for seeding purposes. Farmers desiring some of this excellent wheat are requested to apply to him.

—The officers and members of our fire company must have forgotten the old saying that "practice makes perfect." It is fully two months since they have last seen their equipments, or had a drill. This is not as it should be, gentlemen; keep the thing a moving.

—On Monday morning Mr. and Mrs. F. Catherman, of North street, left for the wide West. They intend visiting their many relatives and friends out there, and do not expect to return before two months. Our best wishes for a pleasant and safe journey go with them.

LOST.—$10 reward will be paid to the finder of a lady's gold ring, set with milk white cameo and pearls, which was lost on the campground or its vicinity on Sunday, Aug. 16th. Please return either to this office or to MAME F. HALL, North Street.

—Thousands walk the earth to-day who would be sleeping in its bosom but for the timely use of Downs' Elixir. 1

SALE OF REAL ESTATE.—William Weaver aud A. D. Weaver, executors of the estate of Frederick Weaver, deceased, late of Haines township, will sell the farm and mountainland of decedent, one mile east of Aaronsburg, on Friday, September 25th, instant.

FOR SALE.—S. K. Faust gives notice that he wishes to sell his valuable farming land situate in Millheim borough north of Abs. Harter's farm, and which he lately bought of David Scholl. The land is in first-class condition and purchasers will find it a good investment.

Hay Fever Specific.

I FOUND IT a specific for Hay Fever. For ten years I have been a great sufferer from August 9th till frost. Ely's Cream Balm is the only preventive I have ever found.—Frank B. Ainsworth, of F. B. Ainsworth & Co., Publisher, Indianapolis, Ind. 36-4t

DEAR EDITOR:—We acknowledge the receipt of a bed-quilt, valued at five dollars, from the sisters of Nittany valley, of all denominations, Methodists, Lutherans, Evangelicals, U. B. in Christ, &c. May our Heavenly Father bless all. C. W. RAVER, U. B. Pastor.

—F. S. Wolf, of Girard, Kansas, is here on a visit to his father, Jacob Wolf, who is seriously ill at B. O. Deininger's on Main street. The gentleman has not been East for seven years, and expresses surprise at the many changes and improvements in this vicinity. He expects to remain a few weeks.

WEDDING BELLS.—On Tuesday evening Miss Mary Bright, the oldest daughter of our townsman, W. L. Bright, on Main street, was wedded to Ed. Bower, of Haines township. The parties went to Aaronsburg late in the evening, where Rev. M. L. Dietzler pronounced them man and wife. After they had returned to the residence of the bride's parents, the band gave them a serenade to which the groom suitably responded. The writer extends his hearty congratulations.

—The 31st annual state fair of the Pennsylvania Agricultural society will be held on the fair grounds, Philadelphia, from the 23rd of September to the 14th of October. A new grand stand, 200 feet long and 25 feet deep, will be erected on the grounds at Germantown Junction. Also a new exhibition building 150 feet square. There will be about 40,000 square feet more of floor space, than last year. The applications for space now filed with the committee exceed the accomodations.

A SURPRISE PARTY.—A great surprise is awaiting our customers at our store and we invite everybody to attend. We will show our patrons the largest and finest invoice of Flannels, Cashmeres, Yarns, Calico, Ladies Cloths, and in fact anything and everything imaginable found in a first-class mercantile establishment. The GREATEST SURPRISE of all—our remarkably LOW PRICES.

D. S. KAUFFMAN & Co., Main street, Millheim, Pa.

—The cows being allowed to run at large in this borough, they very often prove the greatest nuisances out. At many places in town the boardwalks are simply impassable, especially by ladies, on account of this nuisance. Very often the shadetrees along the streets are almost ruined by some long-necked town cow, and many a plank in the sidewalks is broken down by cows tramping around on them. The council should look into this matter and see if there is no remedy for this common annoyance.

The following item from Saturday's Harrisburg Patriot will be of interest to those of our readers who are acquainted with the gentleman alluded to:

MIGHT HAVE BEEN SERIOUS, THOUGH IT'S COSTLY.—Yesterday evening one of the Kurzenknabe boys had a narrow escape from a serious accident. The young man had been decorating their store on Third street near Cumberland and had come down off the ladder and in straightening out the bunting he shook a hatchet off the window cornice. It struck him on the head and glancing off broke an $80 window pane.

—Wm. Brown, who was for a time engaged in the mercantile business in Lewisburg, and afterwards kept Young's Hotel in Mifflinburg, committed suicide at his home in Oakland, Kansas, by drowning himself in a well, near the farm, Thursday, Sept. 3.

—On Wednesday evening, Sept. 30th, the Lutheran Synod at Rebersburg will begin, when Rev. M. L. Deitzler, of Aaronsburg will preach the opening sermon. We will publish detailed programmes of the synod as well as of the Women's Missionary Convention at Aaronsburg in our next issue.

—The eighteenth annual State convention of the Young Men's Christian Association of Pennsylvania will assemble at Reading, Sept. 24th and 25th.

By the way, Millheim had an association of this kind one. What has become of it? Die a natural death?

MULTUM IN PARVO.—McDonald's Great Blood Purifier or Sarsaparilla Alterative is the most highly concentrated, most harmoniously and skilfully combined of all the blood medicines offered the public. Many certificates from well-known and worthy persons could be furnished to substantiate the virtues claimed for this great medicine, but the manufacturer prefers simply to say any purchaser feeling the benefit derived from the use of a bottle not equivalent to the seventy-five cents invested in the purchase can have their money returned.

—A large crowd of people from all parts of the surrounding country congregated at Coburn last Sunday, to take in the colored campmeeting. As far as the attendance of colored folks was concerned we can hardly call the affair a success. There were only seven of them actively engaged in religious worship, including the two preachers. Their odd way of singing was a curiosity to many of their white spectators. Quite a number of whites we noticed had a superfluity of spirits and seemed to rival with the colored singers in making the most noise. Altogether it was a great day for Coburn.

EXEMPTION FROM PAYMENT OF TOLL.—For the information of the public, we publish below the law exempting persons from the payment of tolls in passing over turnpike roads:

"Provided, that no toll shall be demanded from any person or persons passing and re-passing from one part of his, her, or their farm to any other of the same; and all persons, with their vehicles or horses, going to or from funerals, or places of public worship, or of military trainings or elections, shall be exempt from the payment of toll, when traveling on such turnpike road."

The penalty for receiving toll contrary to law is five dollars for each offense.

—Jas. R. Irwin, druggist, Curwinsville, Pa., writes:

'J. A. McDonald. DEAR SIR:—Send us ½ gross of your Worm Powders—they give good satisfaction to our trade. Professionally, I always recommend them, as I consider they embody to the utmost the principal and most desirable points in a vermifuge—smallness of dose, easiness to take, compactness and elegance, while our steadily increasing sales attest their value as a worm destroyer and the satisfaction they give our trade.'

Dissatisfied purchasers can have their money refunded.

—Messrs. Gilbert & Co., merchant tailors of Millersburg, Pa., are at the Musser House with a full line of Samples of Fall and Winter Clothing. They will take orders for suits from $12 to $45; fine English Plaid Suitings from $16 to $35. Their goods are of excellent quality, but very low in price. The firm guarantees satisfaction and extends a general invitation to attend the sale.

IN TIME OF PEACE PREPARE FOR PEACE.—Changes of climate, diet and water, ofttimes atmospheric changes alone, will subject some member of the family to cholera morbus, dysentery, &c., when that wail of misery in the "wee sma' hours of the night" announce the fact, and you are sent from your comfortable bed across lots or down back alleys for a doctor, 'twould be a good time to reflect that had you only secured a bottle of Curtis' Carmelite Cordial in time, you could with a few drops have headed off the attack, saved a doctor's bill, and secured a peaceful night's rest. Dissatisfied purchasers can have their money refunded.

—In another place we publish a short statement of the accidental drowning of Rev. J. K. Millet, of McEwensville. Deceased was a graduate of the Old Mifflinburg Academy, and is well-known by many of our readers. He was a son-in-law of Mr. Geo. Gutelius, of Mifflinburg, and at the time of his sad death, was pastor of the Paradise Reformed charge. Further particulars of his drowning are given in the Milton Economist as follows:

"He left his home, the parsonage in McEwensville, during the afternoon, accompanied by Miss Maggie Culp, a friend of the family. They drove to Watsontown, put up the horse, and at a point of the river known as Port May, they took a small boat, rowed out to about the middle of the river—which is very wide there—the place where he often had fished. Before anchoring the boat he handed his watch and chain to Miss Culp, which was his usual custom, no matter who accompanied him. He had a valuable watch and experience had taught him that valuable articles were easily dropped from his pockets while fishing. When he dropped the anchor the chain attaching it to the boat was too short to reach bottom, which caused the boat to dip and commence filling up with water. Mr. Millet commenced bailing it out, to save it from sinking. In doing so he was evidently excited, and lost his balance. The boat upset and they were both thrown into twelve feet of water. After sinking and struggling in the water they rose to the surface when the lady took hold of the boat after having sunk twice. Mr. Millet coolly commanded her to hold on to the boat while he would swim to the shore [a distance of about three hundred yds], assuring her that if she would hold fast she would be saved, or that the fishermen, who were near at hand and saw them in their perilous condition would come to their rescue. He twice called to her, looking back, to hold on as he struck out for the shore battling with the mad waves, swimming for life. Two men in a boat near at hand went to the rescue of Maggie, picked her up and in pulling for the shore passed by the struggling man, landed the girl, returned for the deceased who had by this time reached the shore within thirty feet, but was now so greatly exhausted and in the excitement of the moment sank to the bottom of the river after those in the boat had reached out with a fishing pole for him to catch hold of. Twenty-five minutes elapsed before his body was recovered, which lay in about six feet of water, and all that medical skill and kind hands could do was done, but the vital spark had fled never to return.

Neighboring News.

AARONSBURG.

Mrs. W. T. Meyer is still confined to her sick bed. She is improving very slowly.

Our friend, D. H. Rote, has been prostrated on a bed of sickness. Sciatica has caused the trouble.

Very quietly Mr. Nathaniel Boob and Mrs. Rebecca Hosterman, from below Aaronsburg, were pronounced man and wife by pastor Dietzler, on last Thursday evening.

The colored campmeeting at Coburn was largely attended on last Sabbath by a class of our citizens who usually object to attending camp on a Sabbath. Of course, we infer by the attendance that color makes the difference.

F. S. Wolf, from Girard, Kansas, made his appearance in our midst last Monday. He came to spend a few days with his sick father, Col. Jacob Wolf, at Millheim. Fos looks very natural.

The potato yield is reported as first-class, both in quantity and size, in Haines township. Cider and apples ditto.

Some of our county papers seem to be in big haste in regard to making preparations for the Aaronsburg centennial. Keep cool, gentlemen, lots of time till 1886. I don't think we will put up very large exhibition buildings. You will hear from us in due time.

An auxiliary meeting of the Women's Home and Foreign Mission Convention, to be held here on the 29th and 30th, instant, was held in the basement of the Lutheran church on last Monday evening. Committees were appointed and general business transacted. Miss Puella E. Dornblaser had charge of the meeting. ANOTHER.

Spring Mills.

Rev. J. M. Evans has been in our midst for the past week. He is visiting his aged parents and friends in this place.

TAKE SIMMONS LIVER REGULATOR

For all Diseases of the Liver, Kidneys, Stomach and Spleen.

This purely vegetable preparation, now so celebrated as a Family Medicine, originated in the South in 1828. It acts gently on the Bowels and Kidneys and corrects the action of the Liver, and is, therefore, the best preparatory medicine, whatever the sickness may prove to be. In all common diseases it will, unassisted by any other medicine, effect a speedy cure.

The Regulator is safe to administer in any condition of the system, and under no circumstances can it do harm. It will invigorate like a glass of wine, but is no intoxicating beverage to lead to intemperance; will promote digestion, dissipate headache, and generally tone up the system. The dose is small, not unpleasant, and its virtues undoubted.

No loss of time, no interruption or stoppage of business while taking the Regulator.

Children complaining of Colic, Headache, or Sick Stomach, a teaspoonful or more will give relief.

If taken occasionally by patients exposed to MALARIA, will expel the poison and protect them from attack.

A PHYSICIAN'S OPINION.

I have been practicing medicine for twenty years, and have never been able to put up a vegetable compound that would, like Simmons Liver Regulator, promptly and effectively move the Liver to action, and at the same time aid (instead of weakening) the digestive and assimilative powers of the system. affects seriously all the digestive and assimilative organs, including the Kidneys. When these organs are so affected, they fail to extract from the blood the uric acid, which, carried through the circulation, causes Rheumatism and Neuralgia.

The functions of the Liver are also affected by costiveness, causing Bilious Disorders.

Among the warning symptoms of Biliousness are Nausea, Dizziness, Headache, Weakness, Fever, Dimness of Vision, Yellowness of Skin, Pains in the Side, Back and Shoulders, Foul Mouth, Furred Tongue, Irregularity in the action of the Bowels, Vomiting, etc.

The Stomach suffers when the bowels are constipated, and Indigestion or

QUAKER Is the Best TABLE SAUCE.

Thousands of articles are now manufactured that in former years had to be imported, paying high import duty as it is now being done on Lea & Perrins table sauce; the QUAKER TABLE SAUCE takes its place; it has been pronounced by competent judges just as good and even better. The QUAKER SAUCE has Slowly but surely gained great importance and is replacing the very best imported sauce on the shelf of the grocer, the tables of the restaurant and the tables of the rich and poor men, greatly prized and relished by all on account of its piquancy, aroma, taste, strength and pureness. The inventor has by years of study of the secret virtues contained in the aromatic spices of the Indies and China, such as mace, nutmeg, cinnamon, genuine Jamaica ginger, and peppers and buds of trees unknown to most men, and by long practice succeeded to combine their extracts in such a liquid form as we now find it, of agreeable taste, and so invigorating as to be taken in place of stomach bitters. By manufacturing this sauce here, heavy import duties and freights are saved, and it is sold at a lower figure to the dealer, who making a better profit on Quaker Sauce can sell it to the consumer cheaper than the very best imported article hardly equaling ours. If your grocer does not keep it, write us for prices, etc. Sold in bottles or by the gallon.

Life Saved by Hanging Upside Down.

A singular affair occurred in one of the pleasantest homes in the suburbs of our city on Friday, the relation of which may not only be of some interest, but also of some use to the reader. A few days ago the family physician visited the same residence, and in the course of conversation mentioned that while attending a sick child the child had suddenly begun to suffocate, owing to a quantity of mucus getting into its windpipe, and he had turned the child upside down in order to relieve it. This story passed almost unnoticed, except by the sister of the lady of the house. On Friday the family, consisting of husband, wife and wife's sister, were at the table eating. Suddenly the wife began to show signs of suffocation. Her husband resorted to the familiar remedy of patting her smartly on the back; but it was unavailing. She could not speak; her face became of a purple hue and she was evidently at the point of death. At this moment her sister, remembering the doctor's story, seized her by the ankles. The husband caught the idea instantly, and the lady was soon in an inverted position, whereupon she immediately coughed up the food which had nearly caused her death. The husband blesses himself for the story which the doctor so casually told, without any thought that it might help to save a life.—Providence Journal.

An Auger to Bore a Square Hole.

The first and only auger ever manufactured that will bore a square hole, is now in the shops of the Cleveland Machine company. This auger bores a two inch square hole, the size used in ordinary frame buildings and barns, but they can be made on the same principle to bore square holes of any size. Its application is ordinary and works on the same principle as round-hole augers. Its end, instead of having a screw or bit, has a commotion which oscillates a cutter mounted on a steel rocking knife which cuts on both sides.

In order to prevent the splintering of the wood the ends of the cutter are provided with small semi-circular shaped saws which help in cutting out perfectly square corners. It is estimated that this new process will save the labor of three men who cut with chisels as one man can conveniently cut a two-inch mortice in the same length of time he can bore a round hole. The invention is the work of a Wooster man who has given the subject years of patient thought.

California Justice.

Country Justice of the Peace (speaking to prisoner)—'Are you guilty or not guilty?

'Guilty, your Honor.'

'You then acknowledge that you killed this Chinaman in cold blood and with malace aforethought?'

'Yes, your Honor.'

'Are there no mitigating circumstances?'

'None.'

'He didn't steal any of your collars, or burst any of the buttons off your shirts when washing them, did he?'

'No.'

'He never spit on the rolls while cooking for you?'

'No, your Honor.'

'I am sorry, but the law obliges me to give you three months in the county jail, for you have been guilty of the crime of cruelty to animals.'

'That's kinder steep for a Chinaman, ain't it, Judge? Couldn't make it ten days, could you?'

'No; the law is very clear on that subject—six months for killing a horse and three months for killing a Chinaman.'

DEAFNESS and how I cure it, by one who was for 28 years. A successful home treatment. Address T. S. PAGE, No. 128 East 26 h St., New York. 23-4t

An Efficient Remedy

In all cases of Bronchial and Pulmonary Affections is AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL. As such it is recognized and prescribed by the medical profession, and in many thousands of families, for the past forty years, it has been regarded as an invaluable household remedy. It is a preparation that only requires to be taken in very small quantities, and a few doses of it administered in the early stages of a cold or cough will effect a speedy cure, and may, very possibly, save life. There is no doubt whatever that

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

Has preserved the lives of great numbers of persons, by arresting the development of Laryngitis, Bronchitis, Pneumonia, and Pulmonary Consumption, and by the cure of those dangerous maladies. It should be kept ready for use in every family where there are children, as it is a medicine far superior to all others in the treatment of Croup, the alleviation of Whooping Cough, and the cure of Colds and Influenza, ailments peculiarly incidental to childhood and youth. Promptitude in dealing with all diseases of this class is of the utmost importance. The loss of a single day may, in many cases, entail fatal consequences. Do not waste precious time in experimenting with medicines of doubtful efficacy, while the malady is constantly gaining a deeper hold, but take at once the speediest and most certain to cure,

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

PREPARED BY

Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass.
